Stochastic Collision Dynamics

The collision of particles is a stochastic process whose characteristics depend on the microscopic surface structure. Here a particle is modeled as a sphere covered by a large number of asperities which mimic the surface roughness.

MSS